Our Philosophy

Children will have the opportunity to participate in free-play time in the classroom, as well as a group snack (usually outside) and many different outdoor activities in our backyard play lot.

We will also be going on adventures in our community including taking walks, playing at neighborhood parks, and visiting nearby businesses to learn more about them and our community.

Our focus for meaningful, play-based activities will also include exploring art, music, sensory play, books, and dramatization using our all of our senses.

We will also be exploring and focusing on how we can give back to our community including recycling, collecting donations for groups in need, and possibly visiting seniors in the community.
